I am writing about the proposed rubbish centre (Organic Waste Transfer Station) at 109A Church Street Lidcombe.

I found out about this proposal from a friend that found out by a flyer that people were handing out at our local railway station.

We already have Auburn Resource Recovery Centre in Sydney Olympic Park, it is unnecessary to have another at Lidcombe where the roads cannot handle the traffic that already exists, especially in peak hours. These roads are already in poor shape with subsidence and poorly filled pot holes, having more heavy vehicles travelling on them will add to the existing problems.

What is being put in place to stop the noise and the fumes from the extra trucks on our roads. Also, organic waste generates toxic fumes and terrible odours, how is this being addressed.

I have lived in my house all my life, I just received a letter increasing my rates by almost $200 a year, I already struggle as a widow on the carers pension, this will be a blight on our neighbourhood. I am opposed to this proposal.
