Dear officer,

I'm writing this email to complain about the new object which will be set up around our area.

According to the information I got now, this will be a very horrible project that pollutes the whole community and even makes us live in the smell of garbage.

Our entire community is working hard to build and improve this community. In addition to schools, hospitals and public building facilities, the resident population is not as rare as in remote areas.

The area needed for the construction of a waste disposal plant should not be in an area with tens of thousands of people around it. Not to mention, I can't imagine that when hundreds of garbage trucks pass by a new community with new regulations, or the smoke generated during the incineration period, the neighbors around breathe the toxic gas and cause various expenses for illness.

My family is even worried that due to the construction of this garbage dump, it will lead to a decline in housing prices and an increase in properties, which will cause great economic losses to our originally not wealthy family.

Would you be happy if you lived near a junkyard? Isn't the main problem of the year-on-year increase in the depression suicide rate caused by external pressure? I could have returned to a comfortable and warm home. But if this garbage station is built, we have to face a more rigorous question, will we get sick because of the garbage station? The reduced quality of our lives contributes to the likelihood of depression.

This is not what everyone wants to see.

I believe that the NSW government, even your council, is a people-oriented government. In order to make the whole community a better life, it will never build a garbage dump that destroys the future of the whole community.

Your sincerely,
