I have grave fears for the proposed facility in our suburb, especially being dangerously close to residential dwellings, and in a high traffic area. That area of Church Street is already quite narrow and dangerous during peak traffic times, and with the operation of an organic waste facility, traffic will only worsen. For large trucks to pull in and out in the street, it will cause further delays may lead to traffic stand stills.

In regards to the residents of the area, not only will we be plagued by traffic and pollution that the vehicles will bring along, but the noise and smell that is associated with such organic waste facility. Residents have the right to step outside their doors and breathe in fresh clean air, hang their laundry and not fear pollution.

I believe that any sort of waste facilities should be located well away from residential areas, and reside in commercial areas as it impacts on the livelihood of residents and the community at large.

I urge you to please reconsider the proposed organic waste facility, as this should not have been considered in the first place.
