To whom it may concern,

The purpose of this email is to lodge my intention to dispute the proposal to build an Organic Waste Transfer Station on 109A Church St Lidcombe.

Although I acknowledge the benefits and needs of an organic waste transfer station for the greater Sydney area, I do not believe that the proposed location is suitable for this project. Church St is one of the only small roads leading into Lidcombe residential area, and the constant presence of trucks throughout most hours of the week would exacerbate the already increasing traffic congestion that the new apartment development nearby is causing. There are no arterial roads in the immediate vicinity that would properly enable the required vehicular activity to occur without major disruption to access in/out/within Lidcombe.

I am of the opinion that such a transfer station would be better suited in other parts of Cumberland council district, such as the much larger and more appropriately located Chullora Industrial Precinct.

I appreciate your consideration of my email in reconsidering the suitability of this proposal.

Sincerely,
